DICKSON WATCH AND JEWELLERY / BERTOLUCCI

BERTOLICIOUS

ON AUGUST 26, stars and socialites visited the Dickson Watch and Jewellery shop at The Landmark to celebrate the launch of Swiss watch company Bertolucci's Bella Costa and Giro watch collections. Bella Costa is a sporty timepiece with a nautical look, rubber straps and an array of fresh colours, making it functional and easy to wear. Giro is its more elegant counterpart, chic and timeless to both men and women but with a flare of casual sophistication that embodies the Bertolucci brand.

Both collections retain the brand's blend of Italian inspiration and Swiss know-how. This unique, Mediterranean partnership was forged when Remo Bertolucci, an Italian from Pisa, fell in love with a young Swiss woman while holidaying with his parents in Forte dei Marmi, Tuscany. Bertolucci followed her back to Switzerland, where they were wed; he then joined his future-in-laws' family watch business, founded in 1911 in the city of Bienne. A skilled micro-mechanical engineer himself, Bertolucci soon discovered an inner passion for the world of watches and began taking an active role in the brand's development and expansion. The rest is history.

To mark this magical tale and Bertolucci's newest collection, a host of fans and watch enthusiasts came out in style for the event. Guests included Henry Chuang, Jenny Tam, Jane Lou Chien, Real Ting, Adeline Chien, Winnie Lui, Louie Shum, Nicolas Tung, Jean Fung, Adrian Ho, Ronnie Fung and Edward Chow.
